

ACLS Certification Class

Thank you for registering for our upcoming ACLS class. Please take a few moments to read this document in its entirety as it contains important information about the class.

ACLS Provider Manual

If you do not have a copy of the 2020 Guidelines ACLS Provider Manual, it can be ordered online from address below. We do provide copies of the textbook for use during class if needed.

All American Heart Association books, e-books and other publications can be purchased online directly from <https://shopcpr.heart.org>

Pre Test and Course Preparation

The American Heart Association 2020 Guidelines for ACLS has resulted in a change in the way courses are presented. Students are REQUIRED to complete both an online Self-Assessment and precourse work. Please allow plenty of time to complete this work prior to attending class. You must bring your completion certificate with you to class. If you do not bring the certificate, we are unable to admit you to class and you will not be eligible for rescheduling or a refund.

To complete the online precourse work for ACLS please go to the following address:

ACLS Precourse Self-Assessment and Precourse Work

<https://elearning.heart.org/course/424>

There are two parts to the precourse preparation. You must complete both the precourse self-assessment and the video lessons. If the certificate does not state you have completed both, we are not permitted to admit you to the class.

AHA will not display the certificate until you have completed the course survey. If you cannot find the certificate, please look for the survey and complete it online.

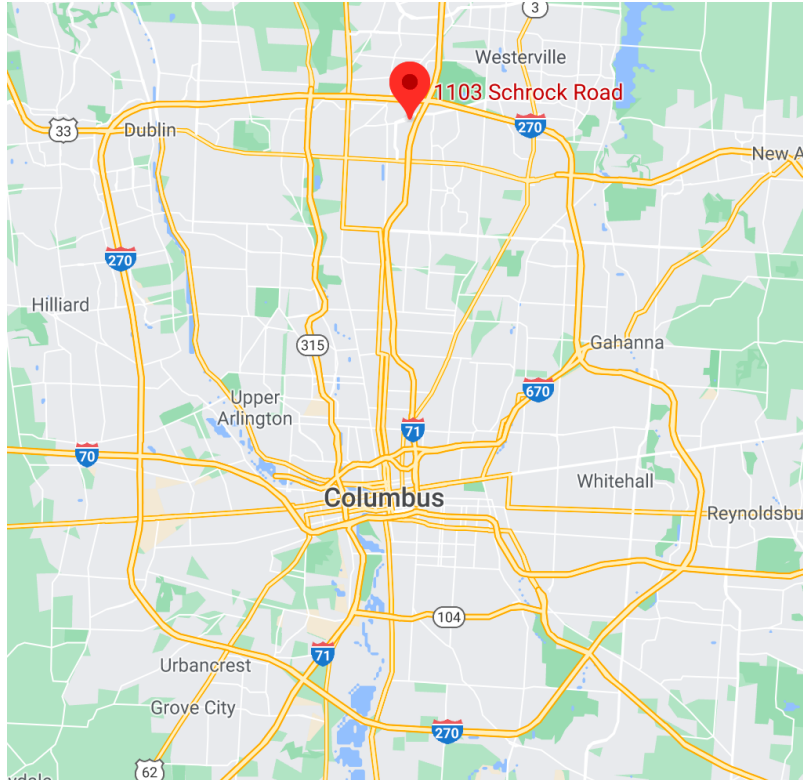

If you do not already have an account with AHA, you can register on the site. The precourse does offer CE/CME credits depending on your professional requirements.

BLS Certification

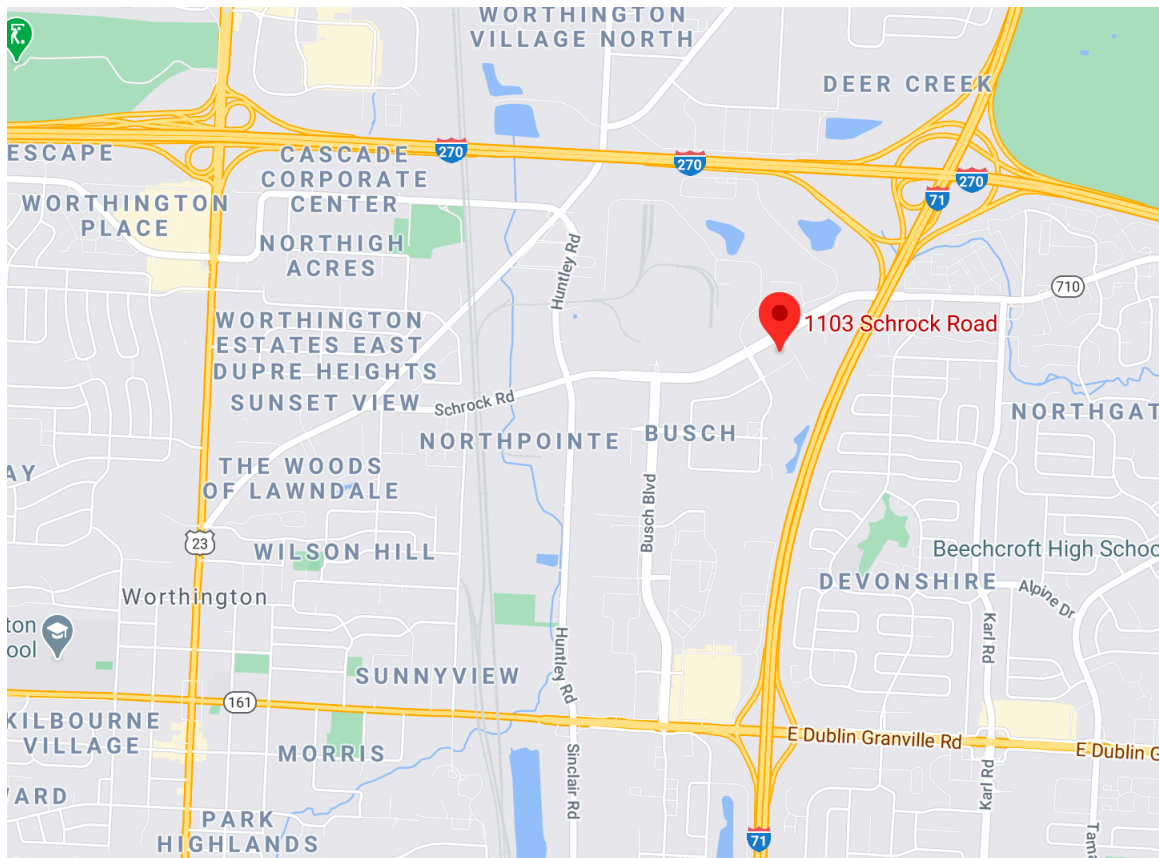

A current valid BLS Provider card is not required to complete the ACLS class. You must be competent in BLS knowledge and skills as those skills are not taught in this class and are necessary to successfully complete ACLS.

Class Location

This class is being held in our training center on the north end of Columbus. We are located on Schrock Road directly across from the Anheuser Busch brewery. Once you enter the building our offices are directly off the lobby on the first floor.

1103 Schrock Road Suite 103, Columbus Ohio 43229

Course Completion Cards

The American Heart Association ACLS course completion cards will be issued to you at the successful completion of class. Please check the spelling of your name on your registration confirmation and let us know right away if there are any problems with the way your name is displayed.
